

Title: India's Sheetal Devi named 'Para Archer of the Year 2025'

Description: Indian para-archer Sheetal Devi has been named the 'Para Archer of the Year 2025' by World Archery, marking another milestone in her remarkable career. The 19-year-old from Jammu and Kashmir earned the prestigious honour following her outstanding performances on the international stage, including a historic gold medal in the women's compound individual event at the World Para Archery Championships in Gwangju, South Korea.

Sheetal's achievement is particularly significant as she became the first and only female armless archer to win a world championship gold, showcasing extraordinary skill and determination. Competing using her feet, legs, and shoulders, she has redefined possibilities in the sport and inspired millions across the country.
